

Building a Coaching Foundation

September 29th-30th | Oklahoma City, OK

Looking for a way to build deeper trust with clients and coworkers? Want to help the businesses, clients, and communities you serve achieve stronger, more targeted results? Learning how to coach can make a major difference.

The "Coaching Foundations" class equips students with the tools, mindset, and confidence necessary to coach effectively at a foundational level. We cover how coaching applies to needs assessments, trainings, meetings, and one-on-one conversations in addition to preparing you to conduct one-on-one and group coaching sessions.

This class also serves as the starting point for anyone interested in pursuing a coaching credential from the International Coaching Federation.

What We'll Cover in Class

- Leading coaching conversations that empower clients to develop sustainable solutions
- Facilitating clearer, more engaging trainings, meetings, and needs assessments.
- What makes coaching different from mentoring, counseling, and consulting.
- The International Coaching Federation's core coaching competencies and code of ethics, and how this applies to the way we coach

Details

- Class will take place from 8:30am-4:00pm on September 29th and 30th at 3921 SE 29th St, Del City, OK 73115 (Mid-Del's Workforce Development & Training Center).
- Each student will have an opportunity to coach in class. Students and instructor will fill out feedback forms for the student so they know exactly what to do to improve.
- Registration is $475/student and includes materials, lunch, and refreshments both days. Discounts are available if multiple students are coming from the same tech center.
- "Coaching Foundations" is the prerequisite for all other coaching courses, including "Leadership Coaching," "Coaching Mastery," and group mentor coaching.

Contact Brady Ross at 405-833-2144 or at brady@bradyross.com to register for the class. Space is limited to 20 participants - sign up today to secure your spot!